

Hi

How was your Easter break?

Mine was definitely egg-themed - egg hunts, egg decorating and egg eating! By Sunday evening both Zac (my 5yr old son) and I were feeling the worse for our choc binge and were on the sofa clutching our distended stomachs watching Wizard of Oz for the 14 billionth time!

OK, so Zac was behind the sofa whenever the wicked witch was on screen. I used to do the same myself . . . like father like son!

But it was good to relax though, after spending most of last week going through nearly 2,000 replies to my FX tester appeal. It was a very strange and fulfilling experience. By the time I had got through the bulging inbox it felt as though I had personal met hundreds of people. As I said before it was a humbling, funny and often enlightening.

A wonderful side-effect of asking or testers, I was inundated with emails from people who wanted to share their success of trading with other strategies. Of course, the aim hope was that by showing their success with other strategies would sway my decision! ;-)

Anyway, the one that stuck out was for Louise Woof's Foolproof Earlybird trader. Yes, I know you have heard me sing it's praises before, but there is nothing like finding out how real people are getting on to give you a more balanced view!

You see, this wasn't just because people were making great money in the current volatile markets (they are as you will see in a moment), but that almost unanimously these were people who had either not traded before or who had tried so many other so-called proven systems only to be burned badly.

Rather than me warble on, her students can explain it far more clearly:

"I was expecting EarlyBird to be more complicated and that was "my fault"! It said in the manual "KIS" [Keep It Simple] and it's a system that is really simple to understand and use! However I'm into my stride now and making excellent Points/Money almost every day and my weekly total are more than in my previous employment!" Bob Humphrys

If you haven't already, check out the system the is changing the way Bob makes money here:

"When it arrived I wasn't disappointed the manual is well thought out and explains the system in simple terms, I read the manual in one sitting and immediately started to paper trade the system the next day.

In the first week I made 10pips profit and the second week 35 pips profit, I then started to trade with real money and have made excellent profits every week, starting at £1 a pip I am now trading at £10 a pip and making profits upwards of £500 a week with very little effort.

I bought the manual in the hope that the system would provide me with a decent second income, at the rate I am going it won't long before it overtakes my main income and I can trade full time!" Steven Hemingway

"Having studied and traded since purchasing the system I can confirm that the points profits quoted are not only obtainable but sometimes surpassable. It's enjoyable because it's profitable, not too time consuming, and as long as you have a broadband connection you have the flexibility to trade wherever you are. I feel this could possibly, and will probably change my life." Derek Carter

"I am now in my 3rd week of using this system and only started with a very small bank of £200 using IG Index so minimum bet is £2 per point . . . it does work as I have now nearly doubled my starting bank and am now ready to start using bigger stakes. I would highly recommend this system as I know it really does work and I look forward to earning a lot more money for the foreseeable future." Steve Earll

"I find the Earlybird great because if I am not able to trade a particular day I don't have to study hours of charts to get back into it. Just look for the signals and act accordingly. I did have a little problem with entry points but Louise's email support is worth its weight in gold. Well worth it. Still trading small stakes £5 a pip but average £ 100-250 per week trading 3 days a week." Kev Moody

"I have dabbled with spread betting on and off for many years with little or no success. Louise's simple but effective strategies have brought some disciplines to my trading . . . I usually level stake £10 a point but intend to increase that to £20 a point. The largest profit in one trade has been £510."
David Kent

Look, I won't pretend this is or everyone nor will I say that 100% of users make money all the time. They don't. In fact, some people have given up, as this type of trading just doesn't suit them. But, if you are free in the morning to follow trades and stick to the rules set out by Louise TO THE LETTER, then I am supremely confident you can make money.

IMPORTANT NEWS!

Here's something you need to know if you are interested in making money from this strategy.

Louise is a remarkable woman who has boundless energy and drive. But to be honest I think she pushes herself too hard sometimes. Just yesterday she sent out . . . get this . . . 700 emails she had drafted over the weekend to her trading students!

You see, Louise answers each and every one of her emails personally. She has been working flat out on this by herself for the past 4 months and it's about time she eased back a little and took a break.

So the upshot is, the Earlybird strategy WILL be closing very soon. Yes, it will reopen again later in the year but I cannot say exactly when. Don't worry, if you are a student or become one today, Louise will of course be answering hr emails as usual!

But if you want to guarantee you get your hands on this proven strategy when the market conditions are close to perfect for dipping in and out for regular gains, then I urge you to get yourself a copy now.

Here's the link again:

I'll be back with my regular updates later this week!

Regards

Nick

PS: And more exciting news on how well the testers are doing with the new FX strategy later in the week!
